BRITISH SPEAKER TO DISCUSS SUICIDE PREVENTION

Dr. Richard Fox, internationally known representative of the Samaritans will address those interested March 22 at 8 p.m. in the SFB Morse Auditorium at the Monterey Institute for Foreign Studies.

"Will to Live...Will to Die" is the topic of Dr. Fox's address, and there will be no charge for the event, which is sponsored by Monterey County Suicide Prevention Center and Monterey County Association for Mental Health.

An expert on the subject of suicide and its prevention, Dr. Fox developed an interest in the area of human trouble from his specialty in psychiatry in 1959 at London University Postgraduate Institute of Psychiatry, where he ran the emergency clinic and came in contact with the Samaritan organization, which is a British group of ordinary men and women offering personal service to those tempted to suicide or despair.

He has represented Samaritans, which now have nearly 150 branches throughout the world, and this year became United Kingdom representative on the International Association of Suicide Presention.

In nearly every country in the world suicide is a major social problem and most countries have organized systems of offering counseling, assistance in crisis and prevention services.

Monterey County's own Center, in operation for six years last month, makes use of some of the information from the Samaritans and is pleased to co-sponsor this event for the community.

FAMILY PLANNING WORKSHOP

The Family Planning Education Council announces a special luncheon workshop on "Contraceptive Methods and Early Abortions in a Family Planning Setting" on Friday, March 22, in the community room at San Diego Federal Savings and Loan, 316 Alvarado Street, Monterey from 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Featured speaker is Sadja Goldsmith, M.D., director of Planned Parenthood of San Francisco and a distinguished family planning physician internationally known for her research work on sexual behavior, contraception and early abortion techniques. She has been invited to inform family planning workers, educators, physicians, and interested parents or citizens about current contraceptive research and to standardize information presented to the public by those engaged in the field.

The cost will be $3 per person and includes a buffet lunch of chicken, baked beans, rolls, coffee and tea. For registration at limited attendance workshop, call 373-1691.

WORLD AFFAIRS COUNCIL TO DISCUSS COMMON MARKET

The Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the World Affairs Council will hold a dinner meeting at the Rancho Canada Golf Club, Tuesday evening, March 19. Mr. Robert Gomperts, who will be the speaker, has chosen as his subject "The Common Market: Struggle for Survival."

Mr. Gompert is president of the California Council for International Trade, a member of the San Francisco committee of the Council on Foreign Relations, and a director of the Swedish, Norwegian and Dutch-American Chamber of Commerce.

As an established and experienced importer-exporter, Mr. Gomperts is in constant contact with the various Common Market countries and is in an excellent position to provide a first-hand appraisal of this significant influence on U. S. trade in particular and world trade in general.

The public is cordially invited to attend, however reservations are required. For further information and or reservations phone 624-9735.

DONATE BLOOD THIS WEEK

There will be a blood drawing for the American Red Cross at the Chapter House on 8th and Dolores in Carmel on Thursday, March 21 from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Luncheon will be served. For further information, call 624-6921.

THE GOLF BUS

If you see a large bus traveling up and down Carmel Valley Road during the next few days, chances are it is the one filled with weekend guests of the Douglas Hudson's of Rancho Tierra Grande.

Thirty old friends have banned together and chartered a bus for their journey from southern California to participate in the annual Tustin Meadows Invitational Golf Tournament being held this year at Rancho Canada on Saturday, March 17.

The groups's itinerary will include a Friday evening cocktail reception and buffet dinner hosted by the Hudsons, tournament play, and dinner and dancing Saturday evening at Del Monte Lodge.

The festive weekend will be topped off with play on the Pebble Beach links on Sunday.

Give us a cover

In an effort to utilize the unusual talent of local photographers in Carmel Valley while adding zest to the newspaper's front page, the Outlook is sponsoring a contest for interested amateur black and white photographers. Winners of the contest, to be judged by an Outlook panel, will be awarded honors, with those placing first through fifth to have their photographs on the cover page.

Entries, submitted between March 18 and March 29, must relate to life in Carmel Valley and fit into the vertical format of the page. Individual prints 8" x 10" or larger or combinations of prints may be brought or sent to the Carmel Valley Outlook, Mid Valley Shopping Center (P.O. Bin CC Carmel Valley). All photographs must be marked with the artist's name, address and telephone number and will not be returned.

AND A HAPPY St. Pat's to you, my big friend.

Seeing green?

Everyone knows that newspapers can be colorful. Publishers worry about the threat of 'gray' pages and concerned citizens protest 'yellow' journalism. This week the Outlook brings you the news in pastel green.

You are reading a green paper for a few reasons: first, for the luck of the Irish; second, we are presently waiting for a shipment of white paper from San Francisco. The green sheets may last through next week, but we will return to the use of basic white as soon as we have the paper.

NOTES FROM CVPOA

By R.A. KRUEGER

Don't feel as if you have to read this article. You don't. You've probably read it before, sometime, someplace. Anyway, my eleven associates will read it, and I'll read it, and that's probably enough. The fewer the readers the better I like it. Worst of all, it's a confession. On second thought, maybe you'd better read it.

You see, you and I are a lot alike. We both live in Carmel Valley. We both own homes and businesses here. We both are here because we want to be and we both want to keep things that way. But Carmel Valley is fast changing, imposed upon by the same forces that are imposing change upon the country as a whole.

With one big diffeeence. You and I, together can control the pace and the character of change surrounding Carmel Valley. We can help convert destructive, unmanaged change to constructive, managed change. We can preserve the pleasures of living here for ourselves and our families. Might take a little work, but well worth it for both of us.

So what's the problem? Well, you've just elected me and eleven other citizens as directors of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association. Our job is to represent your interests in the Carmel Valley. In other words, to help you manage change.

But we're not always sure exactly what your interest are. We know they're not static, that they're always changing, and we want to keep up with them. After all, we're in this together and we think it's important to know your feelings. Always. Continually.

How? Pretty simple, really. First of all, if you haven't already done so, by all means, join the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association. For $2 per year you get a big voice in expressing your interests and in getting things done that you believe in. Second, tell your directors what you want by attending the monthly meetings (first Wednesday of each month - always announced in this newspaper). OK, that's your job. Here's mine.

As a CVPOA director, my job is simply to represent you. Through public forums organized to get your opinion on current issues affecting the Valley; through voicing your opinion at formal hearings at the county courthouse; through newsletters and notices mailed to you of forthcoming Valley subjects of importance to you; through proposing guidelines and model ordinances to county government enchancing south land use in the Valley; through assisting in the formation of public agencies serving the Valley - fire districts, conservation districts, provisions for water, energy, road building, refuse management, etc.; and through assisting other organizations with similar goals.

Quite a ticket. And here's my confession. Without you, I'm no expert. In fact I'm downright ineffective, maybe even incompetent. You see, as CVPOA directors, we're in this together, you might as well know that at my very first board meeting last month, I cast my vote no less than six times on matters that I know are important to you. Sure wish you had been there. Hope to see you next time.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Since we are all so interested in good poetry, permit me to paraphrase some:

O Alan, Alan, wherefore art thou Alan?
What's in a name? That which we call an Alan
By the name of Albert would surely sound as good...

Maybe even better.

PG & E APPLIES FOR 'SERVICE CENTER' OFF SCHULTE ROAD

Pacific Gas and Electric Co. has applied to the County Planning Commission to allow construction of a "Service Center" on 3 acres of land behind (south of) Carmel Scholl, approximately 700 feet east of Schulte Rd. The property is now zoned KGB4; or limited residential (1 acre minimum) with agricultural use. The utility company asks that the 3 a acres be rezoned C-2 (general commercial) "or some other classification."

A use permit would then be required to allow outdoor storage.

UNDER THE OAKS AND AMONG THE CACTI

Should the Valley Chamber of Commerce need new material for tourist-type brochures we submit the following colorful phrase "stolen" last week from a Valley guest. He was explaining that he had just meant to make a brief stop here enroute south while escaping the snows of his own state. "But here I am with my feet still stuck in the honey of Carmel Valley!"

THEATRE OWNERS PLAN NEW THEATRE

New theatre facilities will be added to Carmel Valley, it was learned, with the announcement of plans for the construction of and indoor twin theatre at the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center.

When the construction will begin has not yet been determined. The theatre will feature road shows and first-run attractions and all seats will be of the rocking chair theatre loge type.

HEAVY RAINS CLOSE ROADS

Thirty-two roads in the county are closed because of recent heavy rains. The greatest damage was done in the 3rd District. The next worst toll, mostly in Carmel Valley, was in Supervisor Willard T. Branson's 5th District, where seven roads were hard hit. The damage to Carmel Valley Road was the most severe in the area.

In the Carmel Valley, Carmel Valley Road has been damaged east of Joan Baez School and west of Wagon Wheel and Robinson Canyon Road is damaged at three places, including a section at the Carmel River Bridge. Palo Colorado Road is impassable in wet weather over its last four miles. The Tassajara Road is recommended only for four-wheel vehicles and Southbank Road is washed out from Hitchcock to the fire trail.

STRETCHING YOUR FOOD DOLLARS

A trip to the nearest supermarket is hardly a cause for celebration these days, unless you're a masochist on a diet.

You can bet your discount dollar that prices are going up faster than you can say "super save," and the muttered sounds of discontent are audible from the produce section (asparagus, 49 cents a pound; one year ago, 33 cents per pound) to the refrigerator case (Borden's sliced cheese, 61 cents; a year ago, 57 cents) to the meat counter (forget it).

Last Saturday afternoon, a quick survey of shoppers at the Mid-Valley Safeway and at Monte Mart at Carmel Rancho disclosed that Valley residents are following the Three C's: Computing, Comparing and Complaining. To which we add a fourth: Commiserating.

CAN BAY SCHOOL BE SPARED?

Parents of nursery schoolers attending Carmel's Bay School, the "little red schoolhouse" on Highway 1, were tossed a tough challenge by the Carmel School Board last night.

Either they are going to have to find a practical and economically feasible way to bring the original school building up to State earthquake standards or face the possibility that the district will close the school altogether.

Bay School has operated under a cloud since 1967, when the State passed a law saying that schools built before 1933 must be brought up to earthquake standards or be abandoned.

Planning Commission report

During the Planning Commission's meeting on March 13, the commissioners voted to approve an additional structure to the Carmel Racquet Club and to approve the design of a commercial building in Carmel Valley submitted by J.C. Chaplis.

Board of Supervisors meets:

Conservation/open-space element adopted

Conservation open space element adopted

During its Tuesday session on March 12, the Board of Supervisors voted to adopt a modified version of the conservation open space element of the county general plan. This move came after a series of heated discussions before the Planning Commission and the Board of Supervisors regarding the language and content of the document.

In its final form, there is no mention of a slope-density formula, which had been included in the proposed draft and had been unanimously endorsed by the Planning Commission.

The deleted paragraph read as follows:

"A definite formula, perhaps tempered with consideration of significant local features and resources, and possibly including density advantages for clustering or dedication to the county of unusually large open space areas could be a particularly valuable planning tool." No specific formula was mentioned, however, minor changes in language and grammar were also made.

Gift of Big Sur Inn property accepted

In other action, the board unanimously voted to accept a gift to the county of a 56-acre property 1½ miles south of Nepenthe Restaurant on Highway 1. Carmel Martin, a Monterey attorney, presented the offer to the board on behalf of the deceased Helmuth Deetjen, who owned the property, which is now in trust with Martin and Crocker Bank.

According to Martin, it was the owner's wish to have his property, consisting of the Big Sur Inn and surrounding redwood land area, used by the public for their pleasure and left in a rustic state.

The land will remain in trust for another 14 years, as required by law, until the county can assume ownership. Appraised at a value of $225,000 in October 1972 the land is likely to exceed the $1 million mark in value in the future according to Supervisor Branson. At the present, it is under lease to the former manager of the property, Edmund Gardien.

County's share in purchase of Odello land denied

A request by the Monterey Park District to the board regarding the county's sharing in the purchase of a portion of the Odello artichoke ranch was refused by the board. In its current attempt to arrange for the purchase of the 135-acre parcel of land, the park district has been trying to coordinate the interest of various public agencies.

Thomson J. Hudson of Point Lobos appeared before the board on behalf of the Odello brothers objecting to the proposed use of the land for a corporation yard or garbage compaction site.

Supervisors Branson and Poyner suggested that the park district use some of its own funds. "What are they doing as a catalyst spending other people's money," quipped Branson.

Jail study funded

The board voted to adopt a resolution outlined by the Jail Study Committee and authorized fiscal support of the plan to a maximum of $10,000. The committee formed, according to Judge E.J. Leach, who appeared before the board, "to be a citizen's body on the development of the new jail and to take an overall view of the criminal justice system in a tentative way."

The new county funds will be used to coordinate various related studies which have already been undertaken and to present within roughly six months, a summary of this data.

The scheduled hearing on an appeal to the board of Andy Caminos from a decision of the Planning Commission denying a design approval request in the Carmel Highlands was dropped from the board's agenda in accordance with Caminos' request earlier that day.

Water hearings to resume on Monday

The Public Utilities Commission will continue its hearings on the water supply on the Monterey Peninsula at 10 a.m. Monday, March 18, in Seaside City Hall.

A report will be presented by cities of the Monterey Peninsula and Monterey County on their inventory of available water supplies, as was proposed at the Oct. 11 hearings before the P.U.C.

In addition, the California-American Water Co., which has been under an interim order by the commission not to make new connections until adequate provisions for more water are made, will present other recent developments in the water situation.

The hearing examiner is also scheduled to receive comments of a staff motion for a revision of the interim order. In a previous hearing, staff counsel Cyril Saroyan had suggested the order be "tightened" to prohibit any new single-family dwellings to be connected to water mains.

The public agencies that participated in the inventory of water supplies were the cities of Carmel, Del Rey Oaks, Monterey, Pacific Grove, Sand City, Seaside and Monterey County.

The interim order as it now stands prohibits Cal-Am from extending or accepting distribution mains within or from its Monterey Peninsula division, other than municipally sponsored redevelopment or renewal projects, unless prior to May 30, 1973:

--The final subdivision map has been approved for filing by the local governmental body having authority over the filing.

--A subdivision agreement has been entered into between the developer and the appropriate local governmental body.

--All surety bonds, or other alternative guarantees, covering faithful performance and payment for materials, labor and engineering expenses have been filed with and accepted by the appropriate local governmental body.

Also scheduled for consideration at the hearing is a proposal for a water conservation program, as well as further cross-examination of R.A. Perdue on any recent developments to improve water service and quality in the Seaside area.

There will also be further cross-examination of E.B. Lee on the available water supplies of the Carmel River aquifer. The meeting is open to the public.

Adult residential facility to open in Valley

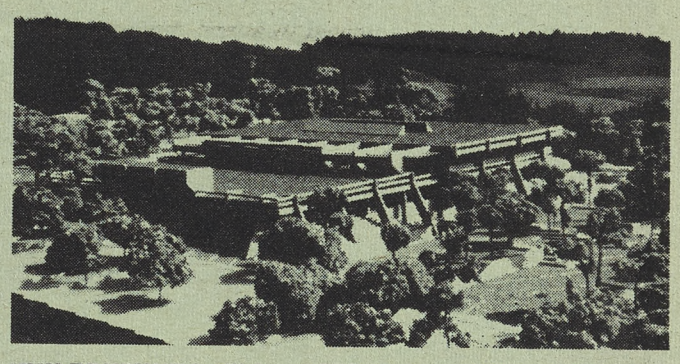
Groundbreaking ceremonies for RSVP's $2.5 million facility at Rippling River will take place on Sunday, April 6 at 1 :30 p.m., according to Mrs. Elaine Castro, administrator. The public is invited to attend.

The groundbreaking will mark a major step towards the culmination of over fifteen years of planning this residential community designed to accommodate the adult physically impaired.

"This will be the first community of its kind in the United States," Mrs. Castro said. "We believe that our efforts here will be emulated in the future by other concerned communities throughout the United States."

When RSVP (Rehabilitation Services and Volunteers of the Peninsula) is completed in the late fall of this year, it will provide specially designed housing for 150 adult physically impaired persons, and will offer a variety of unique services geared to their comfort and convenience.

"Those who will live at Rippling River will be people who usually would be unable to live independently because of their physical impairment, but can function when provided with some degree of care and supervision according to their individual needs," Mrs. Castro explained. "RSVP has been very carefully designed for the purpose of rehabilitating each resident to his or her fullest capacity."



THE PRESENT facilities of CTB-McGraw-Hill in Del Monte Research Park will be augmented by a new administrative office building to be completed by mid-1975. Sebastian J. Bordonaro Associates are serving as architects and planners.

CTB/McGraw-Hill to expand

A major new facility specifically designed to become "part of the landscape" will be constructed on the Monterey Peninsula by CTB McGraw-Hill, a division of McGraw-Hill Book Company. One of the nation's largest publishers of standardized tests and evaluation services, CTB McGraw-Hill will construct the building in Del Monte Research Park, according to Dr. David Evans, general manager.

The firm presently occupies two other structures in the park. Those two operations will be combined in the new facility, which will be two stories high and will contain 65,800 square feet. The new building is expected to be completed by late May of 1975.

TENNIS ANYONE?

By KEN GREEN

TEAM TENNIS on the Monterey Peninsula is now a reality and will commence within a week on the various courts within the county.

Following a team captain's meeting at Ed Gulick's home, eight teams were formed with seven player per team. Each team ranges in ability from A to B and efforts were made to keep the eight teams as even as possible to ensure a highly competitive league. Enthusiasm was running high among the captains and trading was fierce before the final rosters were firmly established.

The success of this league will depend on the reliability of the players to be present for each match. Highway One Restaurant has graciously consented to stake the winning team to a dinner at the end of the league season. Plans are under way to obtain sponsors for each team to supply balls, shirts and anything else within reason. So the league is off and running--I will post match dates and scores in future columns.

There is a challenging job open for a man with a tennis background and an eye for business. The job?--Business representative for tennis professionals. There is no other profession in the land that is more completely lacking a set of ground rules or professional guidance. Any individual who can toss a tennis ball can at any time label himself as a professional, hang up his sign and proceed to collect between $16 and $20 per hour for lessons.

Sounds beautiful, however this lack of organization has worked against the professional seeking a club position. With no rules to follow, every club can foster its own rules, pay what it feels and make whatever demands on the pro it can get away with. Consequently the earning potential for the pro may range from $8,000 to $50,000 per year depending on his bargaining power with the club directors.

Some pros receive all the proceeds from their lessons plus a substantial retainer and in addition a tidy sum from the pro shop. This is the minority group however, as the average tennis teacher receives only what he earns from his lessons and, in the case of some resort pros, actually has to kick back to the club a percentage of his earnings. In Palm Springs, pros come out of the woodwork each year and are forced to buy their jobs at some clubs.

Jerry McKwen, from Meadowbrook, who recently picked up his racquet and moved on was a prime victim of the lack of organization in the profession. He lived entirely off of his lessons, yet he was asked to function in other capacities in the club program without salary. He is a young, capable player, yet he could not gain permission from the club to play in weekend tournaments--on his own time.

It's high time that tennis clubs in general and local clubs in particular, take a long look at their relationship with their professional. In the first place, the club should never hire a professional who isn't a better than average player and has the record to prove it. There is nothing more embarrassing or annoying for a visiting club player than to pay $18 for a one-hour playing lesson and beat the pro 6-1, 6-1. Further the pro should have a thorough knowledge from teaching the novice beginner to perfecting the game of the advanced player.

When the club is satisfied that the applicant has the proper credentials then it should offer him a reasonable financial contract that will give him the incentive to build an outstanding program. This entails a salary that will carry him through the rainy season and all of his lessons. I addition, the pro should be offered the pro shop or a part of its business. Every tennis club is only as good as its professional--hire the best available, pay him well and you may build a lasting program around him. Hire a second rate pro, and you have a second rate club.

I AM OFTEN asked "Who should I take lessons from on the Monterey Peninsula?" These are my answers based on observing the various students taught by local professionals:

For the novice beginner: Group Lessons--Bob Halpin from Pacific Grove, slow but methodical. Stan Cummins from Mission Ranch Courts.

For the intermediate private lesson--Ed Gulick, Carmel Valley Racquet Club, an intelligent approach to the game.

For the advanced player--Jerry Hopkins, teaches anywhere, crunching forehand. Lancio Collas, if you can understand Peruvian. Jack Frost, knows all the moves. Lancio is resident pro at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club and Frost will be director of the Tennis Camp at the Carmel Valley Tennis Club. Lancio ranked number one in Peru. (A llama was ranked second.) Jack Frost, once ranked seventh in the United States, has a win over Rod Laver... when Laver was 2½ years old. Jerry Hopkins is an outstanding local player and ranked University of Arizona player. Try to arrange lessons early with Jerry because he gets cramps after noon.

Andy Bryant at the Pebble Beach Club is as yet an unknown quantity, but from all indications shoudl be a premier teacher with six years experience in the Virgin Islands. Andy is moving into a difficult situation but he has big shoulders and I feel he will create his own image in a short time in the Pebble Beach scheme of things.

There they are. If you desire to learn the game or improve what you have. Give them a call and join the legion of tennis nuts.

Middle School makes strong showing in 'Mathletics'

Of the nine Carmel Middle School students participating in the Monterey County Mathletics Contest at Robert Louis Stevenson School last week, five won awards and all represented their school exceptionally well.

Placing first in the 7th grade division for all of Monterey County was David Marcus; placing fourth was Stephen Heinz; and in ninth place was Josh Simpson.

Chris Kelly ranked seventh in the 8th grade competition and Rafe Mazzeo ranked fifth in the 8th grade Algebra contest. Albert Tao, Tina Wald and Jay Jones also made admirable grades.

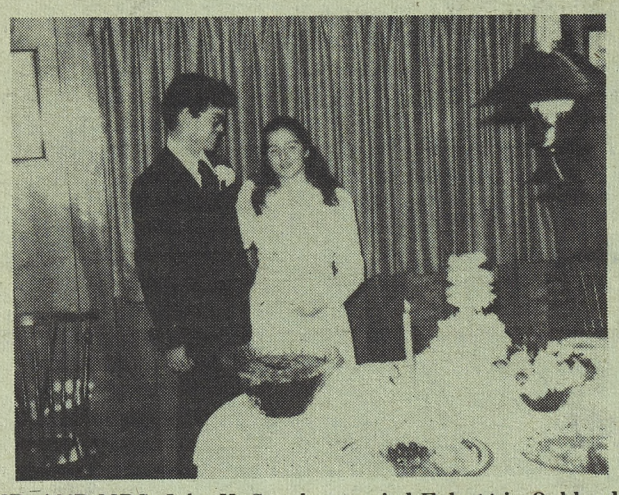
UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

By Mildred Hattan



MR. AND MRS. John H. Speek, married Feb. 14 in Oakland, were feted on the following day with a reception in Carmel Valley.

JOHN SPEEK WEDS IN OAKLAND

Valentine's Day became the wedding day for John H. Speek of Carmel Valley and Sharron Redfield of Key West, Florida, who exchanged marriage vows in the Oakland Temple of the Latter Day Saints' Church.

The bridegroom is the son of Joseph O. Speek of Carmel Valley, and brother of Joseph M. Speek, now stationed with the U.S. Navy in Naples, Italy, and of Jerald M. Speek, stationed with the Army in Hawaii.

After graduation from Pacific Grove High, he served on a two-year mission for the Latter Day Saints' Church in New England, where he met Sharron, who was very active in church work there. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren B. Redfield of Key West, Florida. She graduated from West Bank Jr.-Sr. High School in Westbrook, Conn. She is the sister of Mrs. Clara Scheidecker and of Reginald, Glenn, Tracy, and Laura Lee Redfield, all of Florida.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spencer of Carmel Highlands.

Following a reception held in the Lower Circle home of the bridegroom's father and his wife, Chris, the couple took up residence in Pacific Grove.

Honoring the happy couple at the reception were: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spencer, Carmel Highlands; Angela Judd, Pacific Grove; John W. Speek, Seaside; Patricia Hawkins, Monterey; Mrs. Lord, Monterey; Mrs. and Mrs. Carl Baker, Carmel Valley; Dr. and Mrs. LeGrand Woolley, Pacific Grove; Mr. and Mrs. Garth Wilkinson, Carmel; Stan Nubin, Carmel Valley; and Mrs. Mrs. Ariel Merrill, Pacific Grove. Also attending were friends from the Defense Language Institute in Monterey: Barry Bell, Sue Asfill, Robert Holdorf and Stephen Bird. A surprise guest from the Islands was the groom's brother, Jerry, who presented Hawaiian leis to the bride and Chris Speek.

SAINT DUNSTAN'S Episcopal Church is sponsoring its annual Rummage Sale on Saturday March 16 from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the church on Robinson Canyon Rd. preparing for the event are left to right, Mrs. Marie Rich, Mrs. Fran Wilson, Mrs. Ellen Parker and Mrs. Anne Melching. Proceeds from the sake will go toward maintaining Camp Amigos, an inter-racial day camp for Peninsula children and Trinity Church in Gonzales, which has begun a new counseling ministry to inmates at Soledad Prison.

THE GREAT BARTER

The "Great Barter," a unique opportunity for collectors to add to, exchange, or sell works of art, will be held May 3, 4, 5 at the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art.

The Jesters, devoted to fun fund-raising for the museum will sponsor the event along with a preview party, which is scheduled for Thursday, May 2. Jewelry, fine furniture, paintings, portable sculpture, furs, and antique cars are among the many items the committee hopes to display.

Owners will receive 80 per cent of the proceeds from each transaction, and the Museum will receive the remainder. Mrs. Max Picard, Mrs. Robert Blackburn and Mrs. Ned Simpson are acting as general chairmen for the affair the first of its kind to be held in this area. Information and registration forms are available at the Barter office, 624-8027.

Volunteers from San Francisco, Salinas, Millbrae, San Jose, Santa Cruz, and Hillsborough will serve as area chairmen. Local chairmen and committee members include: Col. James Root, Eldon Dedini, Will Shaw, Roland Tavernetti, William Stone, Jr. & from Carmel Valley, Mrs. Paul (Jody) Cooper. Also making arrangements are: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Snow, Gregg Snow, Gregg McKee, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ritenour, Alexander Heid, Jr., Edward Blight, Mrs. Roy Gilbeau, Mrs. Teri Porter, and Mr. and Mrs. Vince Williams, Mmes. James McPherson, Robert Tuttle, Robert Kirkpatrick, Harry Lusignan, Frank Bray, Fred Concolino, Monte Harrington, and Judson Sherrill will lend their support.

CV LIONS HOST STUDENT SPEAKERS

Described as the "most successful contest ever held by the Carmel Valley Lions Club," was the Student Speakers' Contest which followed a potluck dinner last Wednesday evening at the Carmel Valley Community Center.

Ted Wedlake of Pebble Beach, who was named winner by the judges, will appear at the Region Contest to be held at the Pine Inn in Carmel at 7:30 p.m. on April 4.

The other three contestants receiving awards from District Governor Richard McKenzie were David Sparkuhl of Carmel Valley, Jacques Ford of Pebble Beach, and Calvin Meyer of Carmel. The four young men were selected through competitive speech contests at Robert Louis Stevenson School. "Ecology--Its Price" was the topic for this year's contest, which drew 84 entries. Mrs. Ellen Kester, speech instructor, and the RLS English Department conducted the preliminary competition for CV Lions Chairman Clifford Bolgard.

President Phil Wright of the local club expressed appreciation to the judges, Dr. Joseph Blacow, Frank Catalano, John Dowdakin, and Gene Tolhurs, all Valley residents.

MPVS MEETS AT USO

The Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services met last week at the Monterey USO and announced that the following donations would be made during the month of March: $500 to the Boy Scouts of America (Monterey Bay Council) to be used for camperships for disadvantaged boys, $1,000 to the Lyceum of the Monterey Peninsula; $1,000 to Planned Parenthood toward the purchase of a microscope and an examination table for the early detection of cancer.

Plans are well underway for the annual House and Garden Tour. The date has been set for Wednesday, May 8. The tour will consist of ten homes, five in the Carmel area and five in Pebble Beach. Mrs. Howard Healey of Carmel and Mrs. Ed Ellies of Pebble Beach (whose home was so outstanding in last year's tour) are chairmen of the spring project.

Prior to the business meeting, members heard an appeal for blood donors by Stanley Carter of the Blood Bank of Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula. Carter stated that the bank's goal was to have from four to five thousand donors on call. There are now about 1500. Dr. Osmon H. Hull, pathologist at Community Hospital, said 200 units of blood are needed each month, the ideal being ten to fifteen units per day on a regular basis.

JIMMY PANETTA trades his pet frog and an England daisy with Lynn Sims, a past president of the Carmel Valley Garden Association, for a hanging fuschia in some early bartering for the upcoming Plant Exchange Day to be held on Saturday, March 23 from 10-3 at the Carmel Valley Community Center. Advises the Garden Association, "Gather ye slips while ye may."

PLANT EXCHANGE" PROMISES VARIETY

Those who attend the Plant Exchange Bay on March 23 at the Community Center are promised a wide variety of additions for their garden according to the reports last week of individual potting projects underway for the event. Numerous tree seedlings including oaks and acacias have been transplanted to coffee cans for the journey to Ford Road as well as violet plants, marguerites, and an assortment of succulents and cacti. Won't you select your contributions this week for the 10-3 Exchange Day. Door prizes -- and surprizes!

CV T&S SPRING HORSE SHOW

Remember to have those entries in by March 17 for the Spring Horse Show sponsored by the Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club on Sunday, March 24 (alternate rain date, March 30). Entry forms are available from show secretary, Mrs. Ruth Bishop, 152 Robles Del Rio (659-2837.)

English and western events begin at 8:30 a.m. at the club grounds on East Garzas Road. A snack bar will be open all day and there is no spectator admission.

California State Horsemen's Association and Region Six Cap registration forms will be found at the secretary's booth. Izetta Jensen of Santa Rosa is CSHA Point secretary, and Mrs. Judy Shehan of San Jose is Region Six Cap chairman. Awards will go to first place and ribbons to fifth in the junior and senior divisions of the Western and English competition to be judged by San Martin residents, Betty Franklin (English division) and Russ Franklin (Western).

BABY BLUE FLAG FLIES OVER LA MITAD

A banner-flying event occurred on Feb. 22 at the La Mitad home in Robles del Rio of Mr. and Mrs. William Hughes, who welcomed their first child--a son! Byran O'Neil Hughes. The Community Hospital arrival weighed in a 8 lbs. 14 oz.

Young Master Hughes is enjoying the gifts presented before his birth at a dessert-coffee shower given by Carol

Cypress wins Far Western

Another gold medal for the Cypress Swim Club, its seventh this season, was earned by Maureen Dentch as she swam to victory in both the Solo and the Compulsory Figures competition at the 1974 Far Western AAU Synchronized Swimming Championships last weekend in Denver, Colorado.

While Cypress swimmers have won gold in every meet entered this year, the Far Westerns, which draws entries from the 13 western states and 16 district AAU associations, was the biggest championship to date, and marks the first time that Cypress has ever won a Far Western title.

Miss Dentch won the title in a very closely contested competition. But, by winning the Compulsory Figures, she jumped ahead by four-tenths of a point in overall scores going into the final rounds of routine competition. And, in the finals, she increased the lead slightly to win the solo crown by nine-tenths of a point.

Because of a very limited budget, Cypress could afford to send only the one solo entry to Far Westerns, which according to Manager Del Neel, is unfortunate since they could have swept first place in every event. Winners in both the duet and team championships were the Glendale Swim Club, which Cypress soundly defeated three weeks ago at the Region XIII AAU Championships in Huntington Beach.

This weekend Cypress will travel to Novato for the Pacific AAU Junior Championships. Entered in this meet will be an eight-girl team and a duet.

Forest Theatre presents 'evening of revelry'

Forest Theater Guild is presenting an "Evening of Revelry" on Friday evening, March 15, from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the Sunset Room of La Playa Hotel in Carmel.

The gala benefit which includes musical entertainment and a champagne buffet, will help finance the summer production of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" on the outdoor stage of Forest Theater.

Mrs. David (Patricia Doolittle) Norman is in charge of the musical and Mrs. Carvel (Violet) Baldwin, chairman of buffet arrangements.

Tickets at $5 per person are on sale at Carmel Music in Carmel and at Lily Walker's Music in Pacific Grove. They may also be purchased by mail by writing Box 1500, Carmel, 93921 or at the door.

Auditions for "Merchant of Venice" will be held March 28, 29 and April 1 and 2. Time and place will be announced later.

"The Merchant of Venice" will be presented on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays from July 18 to August 24. Assistance is needed in all aspects of the production: back stage helpers, publicity, sewing, set builders. All those who can help in any way may call 624-2953 or 624-7558. Last summer more than 100 volunteers gave of their time and talents.

Memberships in the Guild for the coming season are still available at $5 for adults and $2 for students. Special reserved seating will be set aside for members. Checks may be mailed to Box 1500, Carmel.

Watsonville Band to play ragtime, Bach, marches

The Watsonville Band begins its spring series of free concerts at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday in Carmel's Sunset Cultural Center.

Why is the concert free? According to Director Gonzalo H. ("Bert") Viales of Salinas, there are two reasons: the band is financed by the City of Watsonville and the County of Santa Cruz, and none of the members is paid and it is not pressed for funds; and the group wants to give a present to their home communities, sharing their talents with the people with whom they live.

Although the band, founded 27 years ago in Watsonville and still one of Santa Cruz County's most cultural assets, is based in Watsonville, its members come from Monterey, Santa Clara and San Benito counties, playing music together for the joy of it.

This year's program, as earlier ones presented by the band, includes several marches of different styles, because Viales feels that the march is one of the most interesting musical forms.

From The Conqueror March by C. Peike which will open the program, through R. B. Hall's Gardes Du Corps March and the Gladiator March by John Philip Sousa, to the program's finale, This Is My Country March by Don Raye, concert audiences will be treated to the whole range of this musical form.

Perhaps the interest in marches develops from the fact that the Watsonville Band is a prize-winning band, as well as a concert band, and this link will be further pointed up in the spring concert program by two appearances of Joan Collins, solo majorette. Joan is a second year student at Hartnell College in Salinas, and has competed nationally as a majorette, placing in the top 20 in the nation.

The ragtime aspect of the concert program is Scott Joplin's The Entertainer, and the program also includes J. S. Bach's Prelude and Fugue in D Minor, so there is indeed something for everyone. Different sections of the band will be featured, with the flute section, for example, showcased during Meditation from Thais by Massenet.

National Girl Scout Week

Carmel Valley girl scouts and brownies are joining in the national celebration this week from March 10 to March 16 honoring the 62nd anniversary of Girl Scouts of America. The Monterey Bay Girl Scout Council was established in 1964. The largest voluntary organization for girls in the world, the scouting program involves several girls form Carmel Valley in both the Brownie and Scout divisions. Girl Scouts maintain their program in part through their annual cookie sale which begins March 16.

WHY I LIKE GIRL SCOUTS
by Susan Buckner

I like Scouts because it gives you an opportunity to learn about other people and you can earn badges. You can go on campouts, and hikes. Girl Scouting really helps you learn to love the outdoors. It also teaches you to learn to be a woman.

by Susie Brandt

I like being a Girl Scout because I go camping, meet new friends, and learn what life is about. At Girl Scouts I go places and do things I would never have done if I had not joined Girl Scouts.

GIRL SCOUTS Michelle Culbert and Dede Sherman delight in their first sale of cookies to Dr. Alyce Foster of Carmel Valley. Cookie sales officially begin Saturday, March 16, and in addition to door-to-door sales, cookies will be available at Mid Valley Shopping Center and at the Village on Saturday, March 16 and March 23. Funds which are collected will go oward maintaining the Girl Scout program in the Valley.

Lahner exhibit

The Laky Gallery of Carmel is sponsoring a private showing of the works of noted French painter Emile Lahner in the Aztec Room of the Arizona Biltmore, Phoenix, Ariz., on March 21, from 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Twenty-one oil paintings will be exhibited.

A recent showing of Lahner's work was held at the Marjorie Evans Gallery, in the Sunset Cultural Center, courtesy of the Lake Gallery.

Lahner, 80, is not a native of France. He moved from Hungary and settled in Paris in 1920, where he worked under Puvis de Chavanne and Bastien-Lepage at the Academie de la Grande Chaumiere.

By LUCY SMITHSON

Adult education is a popular pastime on the Monterey Peninsula. This is a sophisticated area with a high proportion of cultured people and perpetual students. At Monterey Peninsula College there are more students entrolled in evening and extension type courses than there are regular daytime students.

People often go back to school to advance their careers or to explore new ones. Some people enroll in courses to fill gaps in their knowledge or in their previous education. Some students explore inner spaces and expand their minds. Others go for physical fitness and the comraderie of sports. Hobby courses such as pottery and painting are always popular.

Our friend Judy Eisner, a busy mommy and career woman, enrolled in an unusual course at Monterey Peninsula College this semester. This course fits into all of the above categories at once. It's a course in horseback riding.

Many colleges offer courses in horseback riding as part of the physical education program or as part of the animal sciences department. We know of two colleges, both back East, which offer a four-year degree program in horsemanship (Imaginary conversation: "I'm majoring in English Literature. What're you majoring in?" Pause for reply. Cool rejoinder. "Oh. Really?").

This is the first riding course offered by Monterey Peninsula College, and it is being taught by Sue Sally Hale at Carmel Valley Equestrian Center. The course has a tuition of $45 for ten weeks of biweekly meetings and was limited to the first ten students to sign up. Zip! It filled immediately!

Nine women and one man showed up for the first lectures at the college. Their reasons for enrolling were many and varied. One lady was tired of seeing her teenage daughter have all the fun with the family horses. Another had never gotten over being thirteen years old and in love with horses--a phase many of us fail to outgrow. Said one with a sigh, "It's either horseback riding or a psychiatrist, and riding is cheaper."

College lecturer Mel Bristow assigned the class to learn all the parts of the horse, saddle, bridle and several kinds of bits. (That's why there were no 636.1 or 798 books in the libraries two weeks ago in case you were wondering. The students checked out every horse book they could lay their hands on.) Everyone passed the first written quiz with ease.

This was not, however, sufficient preparation for their first visit to the stable. It's winter in California, you may have noticed. It's been raining. Real horses are a lot shaggier and muddy than 'book' horses. One unfortunate student absolutely ruined her navy blue high heeled shoes on her first visit to the farm.

Mel Bristow had each student saddle and bridle his own favorite polo pony. Mel is an enthusiastic polo player when he gets the time. His patient mare didn't mind the taste of ten different hands trying to put a bit into her mouth--not even that of the lady who was trying to put her hand into the horse's mouth while keeping her diamond rings dry.

By the next class meeting, every student had acquired riding clothes. In a light drizzle, the group waited beside the ankle-deep-in-mud corral trying to coax the horses to come out of the mud without anyone having to go in. You could spot this group easily as adult beginners. They were all so incredibly clean--shining boots, pants with pressed creases.

Judy Eisner reports that she was barely able to drag herself into a hot bath afterwards to soak her protesting muscles. She had ridden a retired show jumper who would stop dead unless she constantly applied her aids. It was a simple formula: if Judy stopped using her legs, the horse stopped using his. What a great school horse.

A good school horse is a rare and wonderful creature willing to take from each student according to his or her abilities and render unto each according to his or her needs. Sue Sally keeps some of the best school horses in California. They are chosen for what they can teach a student as well as what they can do. Sue Sally's horses jump, play polo, ride trails, do dressage, go hunting, play games, perform mounted drills and compete in horse shows. Pretty remarkable.

If Sue Sally Hale has her way, every student in the course will get a good start on horsemanship. Judy already has grandiose daydreams of being a great rider by summertime.

"Well, anyhow," she says, "I'm going to give it the old college try."

School board meets:

Supporters speak for Jensen but board remains firm

Board acts to rehabilitate C.H.S. gym

THE MARCH 13 meeting of the Carmel Unified School District got off to an early and moving start with a pre-meeting presentation in support of Neil Jensen, Carmel High School Vice Principal, who has recently been notified of his reassignment for the coming year. Representatives of the Students' Council and of the Advisory Committee of C.H.S. showed the board a 23-minute video tape which included the views of roughly 25 students who expressed their esteem for Jensen as a school administrator with whom they could easily communicate.

According to Pamela Smith, president of the school board, however, the action taken by the board regarding Jensen's reassignment "is final unless a board member decides to take up the issue again." Several students, teachers and parents appeared at the meeting in an effort to pursuade board members of the need to reconsider their action.

Speaking in behalf of Jensen, a parent, Mrs. James P. Smith, said, "Neil Jensen tries to help the students keep their identity as human beings, not only as students. I think he's one of the most valuable people at the school in terms of providing a vital link between the students, the school staff and the parents. He humanizes."

Confronted by students asking to know the reason for Jensen's reassignment, President Smith replied, "As we stated earlier, it is the polarization which has developed at the high school," apparently indicating that Jensen was in part responsible.

Polarization was clearly in evidence at the board meeting, as speakers on behalf of Jensen spoke to the board. Stated Ralph Kahl, a biology teacher at the high school, "You've seen the tapes, and I think they give a fairly representative sampling of student opinion. I've been here since 1966 and I don't think I've ever seen such turmoil. I think that the high school needs a time of healing."

President Smith responded to Kahl's concern over the efforts already under way to find a new principal to replace Kenneth Bullock, who has also been notified of reassignment for next year, "We're not going to rush into anything." Mrs. Smith indicated that a committee which would include students would be formed "to help in the process of selecting a new principal."

FACED WITH the still present need to rehabilitate Carmel High School's and the Middle School's facilities following the defeat on March 5 of a proposed bond which would have financed the effort, Pamela Smith explained the desire of the board to solicit "fresh input." We have decided to bring in a broadly based committee of citizens to take a look at all of the information we have been dealing with for the past year and a half and to review this data and make reccommendations to us regarding the next steps." According to Mrs. Smith, the committee would be composed of approximately a dozen students, faculty, parents and adults "not intimately related to the school."

Assistant to the Superintendant Dan Yurkovich expressed disappointment over the 30 per cent voter turn out in the bond issue election.

The board took immediate action toward the improvement of Carmel High's gymnasium, authorizing that the plans for the gym's rehabilitation drawn by architect Fred Keeble, be sent to the Office of Architecture and Construction in Sacramento for review at a cost of $1,750. The work on the gymnasium is expected to cost approximately $450,000, "there goes our reserves," the somewhat stunned board president whispered.

The next regular session of the school board will take place March 27 at 7:30 p.m. at the Middle School Resource Center (Library).

Frustration mounts for students supporting Jensen

Hundreds of students from Carmel High School have exhibited support on behalf of Neil Jensen, current vice principal at the high school who has been informed that he will be reassigned for the coming school year. In spite of the school board's tenacity to their decision of two weeks ago, students continue their effort to reverse the board's position.

The day following the announcement involving Jensen, some 300 students and teachers from the high school congregated in the gymnasium for a noon meeting to discover what had actually happened. Mrs. Bottero, a health teacher at C.H.S. stated that the noon gathering reflected the strongest student reaction she had witnessed in her years at the high school. Although students present were told that if they remained after sixth period they would all receive "cuts," not one person left the room.

Since the the noon meeting, several petitions have been circulated calling for a reconsideration of the board's decision regarding Jensen, and more than 500 signatures have been collected, a student representative said last Wednesday. One petition, which was signed by almost 250 students calls for a student walk-out if and when Jensen leaves the school as vice principal.

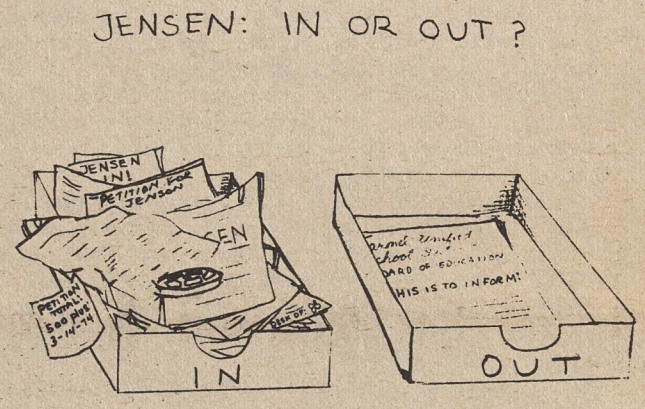
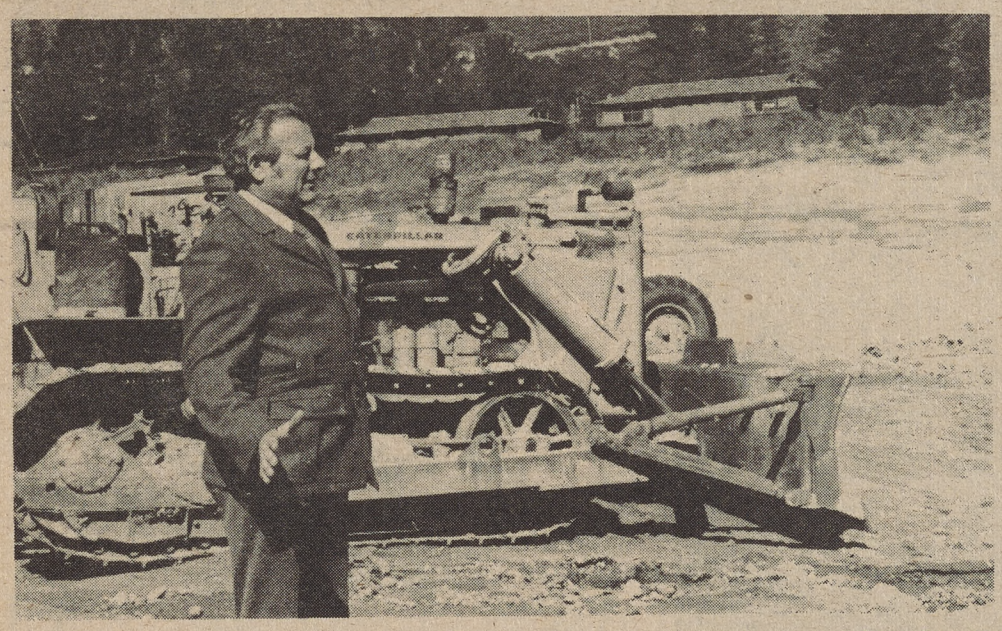
Describing board member reactions during the presentation, one student present at the meeting said, "They just looked at it and looked at the walls and the chairs in the room and then down at their hands. It didn't seem like they were hearing, even if they were listening to what was being said."

Some students seemed frustrated at the lack of response they encountered from the board. "Maybe we should have had hundreds of kids come in here tonight rather than show you this tape," suggested one exasperated student to Board President Pamela Smith. Although Mrs. Smith assured the students that they had acted wisely, she did not appear to answer all their questions or appease their concern and growing hostility.

"I know you all want answers and I wish I could commit myself," Mrs. Smith offered. The students do not appear satisfied with the board's current handling of the situation and some suggest that "in fighting" at the high school is being perpetuated by the board's unwillingness to meet and respond to broadly based opposition to their action.



Ground is prepared for Valley's new Post Office



POSTMASTER Fischer surveys the building site for the Valley's new Post Office. Despite recent downpours, progress is currently being made in leveling and repacking the land upon which the facility will be built.

THE PRESENT Carmel Valley Post Office will continue to house mail services until construction of a larger facility is completed this summer. →

The need for a larger Post Office in Carmel Valley will soon be met. Men with machinery are presently at work leveling the site for the new Valley Post Office Building, to be located on Via Contenta Road, less than five minutes walking distance from the present facility.

The new building, under a 10-year lease to the U.S. Postal Service by its owner, Robert Talbott of Carmel Valley, is scheduled for completion in July of 1974.

Built on a one-acre site, the new Post Office will be a wood and plaster building with a wood-frame construction. According to Valleyite Augine Acuna, an architect with the firm of Wallace Holm & Associates, who has designed the facility, "The new Post Office will have a rustic, 'Village' character, with a wood porch out in front and a sloping front."

Landscaping designs include the planting of native Monterey pines, buckeye, California poppies, native grasses and low-mounding shrubs.

Eighteen parking spaces will be provided for those using the postal services, and additional parking for employees will be located at the rear of the site.

Postmaster Joseph Fischer appears pleased with the prospect of more mail boxes and an enlarged service area which will be provided in the new Post Office.

Chez Felix

Chez Felix...a charming, authentic Restaurant Francais! It is a "family affair" with Felix and Annie Roux. Felix, born and trained in France and former chef at the Marquis in Carmel, is a Master-Chef in his own right.

The cuisine is strictly French enhanced with Felix' own creativity. The menu is limited to ensure that everything listed can be created to perfection. Annie, lovely and gracious, is the attentive hostess.

Situated above Old Cannery Row in Monterey, this small, highly personalized restaurant could be overlooking a busy street in Paris instead of the wide expanse of Monterey Bay with its rocky, wave-lashed shore and flocks of sea-gulls.

Felix and Annie have created a truly French atmosphere. The decor is perfection to the smallest appointment, the cuisine to every ingredient. Warm, friendly and a gourmet's delight... dining at Chez Felix is a rare treat you will want to repeat. Being able to seat only twelve parties of diners reservations are a must.

On the menu that Felix varies from time to time with new innovations, you may find a rich crab bisque, served with small rounds of toasted French bread and a tantalizing aoli mayonnaise; chicken in a luscious champagne sauce with plump golden raisins; sole prepared with a touch of tomato sauce or lightly poached in seafood sauce, salmon when in season, sweetbreads and veal.

Desserts are delicious and unusual. You may order dessert specialties ahead of time for parties or anniversaries. The wine list is excellent, carefully selected to complement the cuisine.

The Clock Restaraunt

With spring at hand and the flowers bursting into bloom, you can be sure that Sunday Brunch at The Clock Garden Restaurant is most pleasant. You owe it to yourself and your family to discover this hearty and delicious brunch very soon. Call Bob Canon at 375-6100 and make a reservation for brunch in the sun.

The Pump House

Standing in the front entrance of the Pump House you look out on what could be one of London's many small parks. Turning to go in you walk into a warm, congenial room that could be a centuries old English dinner house. The serving wenches, the versatile menu and the fine food all bring a bit of old England to Carmel. Dinners nightly from 6 p.m. across from the park on 6th at Junipero.

The Outrigger

One of the truly great entertainment bargains in the area is Monday night dinner at the Outrigger overlooking Monterey Bay on Cannery Row. For only $12.95 two people can enjoy dinner at the Outrigger and the movie at the Steinbeck Theatre. This combination is becoming increasingly popular and the great food and beverages at the Outrigger only enhance the value. Try it soon. Call 372-8543 for reservations.

Rancho Canada

If you want to honor a visiting guest or surprise a family member you might consider a luncheon at Rancho Canada. Only one mile up Carmel Valley Road, it would be difficult to find a more pleasant site for a fine restaurant. Their lunches are designed to please all tastes and, for a very special occasion, the Friday night Baron of Beef and King Crab Buffet is superb. Reservations at 624-0111 are advised.

The Bean Pot

The Bean Pot restaurant is opening on 8th between Mission and San Carlos.

Serving breakfast, lunch and dinner, Bill Keane and Dick Johnson, both former food and beverage directors with Hilton, will be featuring complete dinners to go for Carmel residents.

Special containers will assure the food staying hot until eaten. They will offer patio dining and will also have an ice cream fountain.

MOVIES IN REVIEW

By GALE QUINSEY

DAY FOR NIGHT

Francois Truffaut's "Day for Night," now playing at Carmel's Village Theatre, is one of the most delightful and enjoyable films we've seen in many a moon. It also happens to be one of the best movies about movies ever made, equaling if not in style at least in theme, Fellini's marvelous "8½."

The title of the film comes from American filmmaking terminology: day for night refers to scenes shot in daylight but with heavy filters placed over the camera lens so as to give the effect the scene is taking place at night.

The movie deals with a director (played by Truffaut himself), and his calm, gentle and ever-patient attempts to complete his film against the pressing demands of a penny-pinching producer, his temeramental, childish leading man, a promiscuous script girl, an aging, alcoholic prima donna, a Hollywood starlet recovering from a breakdown, and an aging homosexual matinee idol.

The film within the film has a silly, old-fashioned sort of plot that reminds one of Francoise Sagan novels and is fortunately on the wane: a young couple meets, falls in love, and marries.

Then the girl falls in love with her father-in-law, they have an affair, the son shoots his father, and the girl kills herself by driving off a cliff in her car.

What is important is not so much the film being made, but the interplay between the various actors, cameramen, prop men and hangers-on, and their own personal dramas that are divorced from the film they are making. Truffaut views his various characters with a great deal of wry delight and skepticism, and is content to let their actions speak for themselves, rather than interjecting his own personal philosophies.

Jacqueline Bisset, as the Hollywood starlet, is almost unbelievably gorgeous, and despite the fact she has been quoted as saying that "being beautiful is a drag," she nevertheless evokes from the viewer a profound desire to have a share in some of that boredom. Jean-Pierre Aumont is perfect in his restrained, gallant portrayal of the homosexual ex-matinee idol.

Jean-Pierre Léaud, again cast as Truffaut's alter ego, is both hilarious and maddening as the obnoxious, adolescent male lead. Valentian Cortese, as the aging, alcoholic prima donna, is absolutely marvelous, and one of the best scenes in the movie belongs to her as she fluffs line after line after line, finally resorting to tacking her lines on various walls around the set, fortifying her shaky ego with nips from a bottle of champagne. The scene is reminiscent of stories told about Marilyn Monroe near the end: the constant takes and retakes, the drinking, the cries of "This time I'll get it!" and flubbing still again.

What Truffaut has to say about movies, people who make them and people in general is condensed into a delightful package of a film, which is highly recommended for all. Movie freaks will enjoy "Day for Night" for its views of behind-the-scenes filmmaking, and all the intricacies therein, but even the casual movie-goer can easily appreciate this sprightly, humorous film.

"Day for Night" plays day and night at the Village Theatre, Dolores and 7th, Carmel. For more information, phone 624-5341.

'Television Nostalgia'

"Television Nostalgia," a film program consisting of 25 original cuts including cartoons, commercials and specials from television of the 1950s, will be shown March 15 and 29 in the Monterey Peninsula College Lecture Forum 103.

The film program, sponsored by the Associated Students of MPC, will be screened at 7 p.m. and again at 9:45 p.m. on both evenings.

Included in the film are such classics as Groucho Marx in "You Bet Your Life;" "Sergeant Bilko," featuring Phil Silvers in "War Games;" The Marx Brothers in "The Incredible Jewel Robbery;" "Amos N' Andy;" "Father Knows Best;" "Wild Bill Hickock," with Guy Madison and Andy Devine; the "Mickey Mouse Club Theme;" "What is Communism?" with Herb Philbrick in his legendary smear of the Communist Party and an ad for "Wildroot Creme Oil."

The "Sid Caesar Hour;" "Betty Boop;" "Ted Mack Amateur Hour;" highlights from "Liberace;" "Burns & Allen;" "Dragnet;" "The Honeymooners;" "The Lone Ranger;" "Nixon's Checker's Speech;" "Televisionland," a collage of TV clips; "Ozzie and Harriet;" "You Asked For It," with Art Baker; Elvis Presley's first appearance on television on the "Ed Sullivan Show;" "Charlie Chan;" "Ronald Reagan's Death Valley Days;" and the 1954 "Lawrence Welk" show are included.

Tickets are $1.50 and are available at MPC in the Student Activities and Community Services Offices, and are also available at the door.

Correction

In "Carmel Valley Chamber News," a column which appeared in last week's Outlook and was written by Chamber of Commerce President Chuck Woodson, a word was omitted from the third to the last sentence. The sentence should read, "Remaining silent and not participating is not the American way of achieving anything."

Tantamount presents 'Joan of Arc'

Ingrid Bergman was nominated "Best Actress" for her protrayal of Joan of Arc in the spectacular 1948 winner of three Academy awards to be presented at the Tantamount this weekend. Walter Wanger was given a special citation for producing "Joan of Arc," which also won "best color cinematography" and "best color costume" awards.

Adapted from Maxwell Anderson's play, "Joan of Lorraine," the film boasts Jose Ferrer, Hurd Hatfield, and Ward Bond in featured roles heading a cast of thousands. Show time is 8:40, Friday and Saturday nights.

'LUV' is extended at MPC

"LUV," the current production of the Monterey Peninsula College Players, has been extended for an additional week, with the final performances now slated for Friday and Saturday, March 15-16, in the new Standing Room Only Theater.

The 50-seat theater is located within the main college theater building. Performances start at 8:30 p.m.

The leading characters are Jane Evans, who plays "Ellen," Ben Luedtke as "Milt," and Dennis Deutsch as "Harry Berlin."

"LUV" is the tale of the trials and tribulations of two schoolmates, "Milt Manville" and "Harry Berlin," and "Ellen Manville," the woman who drives them apart. All have received disappointments along life's pathways, and have enbellished these with familiar psuedo-sufferings and other face-saving humilities.

Tickets are $1.25 in advance and $1.50 at the door. For reservations call 375-9821, ext. 380.

Jean Hofsas to exhibit graphics

Jean Hofsas, Carmel Valley artist, will have her latest graphics on display at the Valley Hills Gallery starting March 15.

In the new etchings, she has worked for tonal effects of velvet blacks and soft gray, interweaving the spaces with the subject to produce an overall strong design.

She will also be introducing another of her nature wood block prints.

Ms. Hofsas majored in art at the University of Washington and later studied with several Seattle artists. Her work has been exhibited in juried shows in Seattle where she was awarded two honorable mentions.

Locally, she has won second place in graphics at the Monterey County Fair.

Since her initial studies she has attended Hawaii University, MPC, and Hartnell in Salinas.

She is a member of the Valley Hills Gallery, which is located three miles east on the Carmel Valley Road across from Quail Lodge.

'Miles Portley'

The Magic Carpet will repeat its production of "Miles Portley," the original musical which is based loosely on the myth of Orpheus and Euridice, twice this weekend at the Hidden Valley Music Seminars in Carmel Valley.

The performances will be at 8 p.m. Saturday and at 2 p.m. Sunday. They will be benefit performances for Hidden Valley Music Seminars, which each year attract young musicians from a wide area.

The admission will be on a donation basis, according to what those who attend wish to pay. Reservations are recommended for both shows, and can be made by calling 659-3115.

SOUTH OF THE BORDER - TEMPO SLOW

Three weeks of surf, sunshine, and camping on uninhabited beaches on the Bay of Conception makes for a difficult transition to the normalcy of lines at gas pumps and a five-day, commuting work-week, agree Mary and Bill Ijams and Myrna and Don Weber, who returned last week from Mexico. The Valley foursome discovered that the new highway has brought hordes of tourists to fill last year's nearly deserted, favorite campsites and telephones to each village of any size in Baja. Highlights were shopping in La Paz and a reunion with friends met last year in Mulege, who flew Don and Bill to the Pacific side of Baja where they purchased an ice chest filled with lobster.

GET-WELL-O-GRAMS

To: Esquiline Road resident Mrs. Mabel Love, who is home and recuperating from surgery at the Community Hospital, where she became the owner of a new pacemaker; to Mrs. Victor Farr, also recuperating from Community Hospital surgery on her eye; and to Miss Esther Trevino, who fell, breaking her arm while delivering cheer and baked treats to shut-ins.

A speedy recovery to all!

CONFIRMATION AT OUR LADY OF MT. CARMEL

Confirmation of young people who have been taking instruction at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church was celebrated Friday evening at the Valley church on El Caminito. Mrs. W. G. B. Hatch was coordinator of the class, taught by Sister Janet Till and Father Douglas Keating. A special guest at the ceremony and reception which followed for families and friends was Bishop Harry Clinch.

The previous Friday, Father Joseph Hercek of St. Mary of the Nativity in Salinas officiated at the Recollection service for the class. Among those confirmed were: Mathew Allaire, Mark Allaire, Anthony Belleci, Susan Groves, Gay Halley, Mary Jane Hermanson, Colleen Kelly, Karen Lemos, Luanne Lemos, Ronald Lemos, Denise McFaddan, Stacia McFaddan, Timothy McFaddan, Tami Stainbrook, Stacie Weber, Gladys Zarazua and Mrs. Darrell Smith.

STREAKING IN THE SUN-DRENCHED UPPER CV

"Streaking" came to Carmel Valley Saturday, witnessed by a few---oh, very few---residents who attended the "work party" at the Carmel Valley Little League Baseball Park. While workers were rewiring, repainting, repairing, clearing rocks, pulling weeds, shoveling, filling gopher holes, raking, burning trash, etc., an unidentified CV representative of the nation's latest madness ran the bases and disappeared into the willows along the river.

See what you miss when you fail to answer a call for assistance on a Valley youth project? Dropping--in amazement--their wire cutters, shovels, rakes, and paint brushes were CVLL President Dick Klingensmith and wife, Flo, Augie Acuna, Dick Hindman, Dick Wenzlic, Bill Conlan, Kay Appleton, Bruce Matson, Jim Conlan, Luther Washington, and Mildred Hattan.

Other witnesses included past and present Little Leaguers Rich Klingensmith, Rogue Hattan, Paul Corona, Keith Moore, Kevin Washington, Conn Cayce, Shane Hattan, Jimmer Moore and Clint Wilson.

The field looks sensational--be sure to check it out at the try-outs on Saturdays March 23 and 30 or at opening day ceremonies, April 20!

WINE & ROSES" AT MONTEREY ELKS CLUB

Fragrant rosebuds in wine bottles will center the cabaret tables at the annual Carmel Valley Lions Club "Wine and Roses Ball," dinner dance to be held at the Monterey Elks Club on Saturday, March 30. Chairman Tom Bordonaro invites you to pick up your tickets for the prime rib dinner and dance from any member of the Lions Club or from Pat Bower's Pharmacy or at the Chatterbox. Donations are $10 per person. Tickets will be available at the door for dancing from 9-1 for $2.50. Many door prizes will be presented during the evening including fine wines, dinner tickets and groceries. All proceeds will be used by the Valley club for various community service projects.

CHS SPONSORS WAYNE STATE UNIVERSITY SYMPHONIC BAND

The Carmel High School Music Department invites you to hear in concert The Wayne State University Symphonic Band from Detroit Michigan, directed by Harold Arnoldi.

This outstanding organization is one of the few university bands that have been selected to perform at the National Music Educators' conference in Anaheim. Their concert in Carmel is part of a west coast concert tour that will conclude at the national conference.

The concert is scheduled for Wednesday, March 20, at 8 p.m. at Sunset Auditorium in Carmel. Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Group reservations are recommended due to limited seating. Make checks payable to Carmel High School Band. Mail orders to: Henry Avila, Band Director, Carmel High School, P.O. Box 600, Carmel, Calif., 93921

First Baptist Church

Sunday activities begin at First Baptist, Carmel with Sunday School at 9:30. Classes are held in the church sanctuary and in the Episcopal Day School. At eleven o'clock the church assembles for an hour of challenging worship that features congregational participation. Pastor McBeth's sermon title for Sunday is "Saying 'No' to God Isn't Very Smart."

Sunday evenings are times for singing and discussion between youth and adults. The theme for this week is a door-opener to the important issue of self-image and personal worth, entitled, "That Spring Feeling For Living Is Showing." Friends in the community are invited to visit these services.

Workshop in woodcut printing

A workshop in woodblock printing conducted by internationally noted artist Antonio Frasconi will be presented at the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art during Easter Week. The enrollment will be limited to 20 students on a first come basis for a fee of $65 for 5 days, April 8 through April 12.

Currently a resident of South Norwalk, Conn., Frasconi was born in Montevideo, went to New York on an Art Student's League scholarship in 1945 and since then has had many exhibitions and awards.

He has produced many outstanding handprinted limited editions, and is especially known for his children's books and has represented Uruguay in the Venice Biennials. His widely recognized achievement in the rejuvenation of woodcut art is due to his having rescued the technique from an excess of refinement that was really not suited to it. In using the simplest of tools, no complicated instruments or precision machines, both the subtlety and personal touch are actually enhanced.

For advance registration call the museum, 372-5477.

What could be better in these days of long lines at gasoline stations than a device that can simply tell you how many miles per gallon you are getting? Once you have established that figure you can even tell if your engine is getting out of tune because your miles-per-gallon will drop. You may compute in advance how many gallons of fuel you will need for a trip if you know the distance.

The MILEAGE MINDER is simple to use and attaches to your car visor for convenience. Save gasoline and worry with the MILEAGE MINDER from GODFREY GAMES, 474 Del Monte Center, Monterey. 375-8887. IT'S ONLY $5.00 and will quickly pay for itself in peace of mind and will show your friends you are "one of the smart ones." You couldn't find a better gift idea that the MILEAGE MINDER

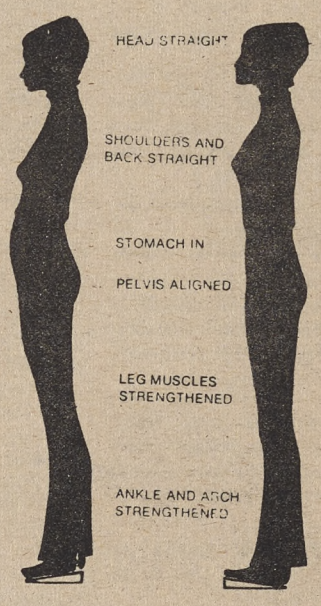
ALSO earth KALSO SHOE

When the body is in a healthy, erect posture it should be possible to draw a straight line between the ear, wrist and ankle. The EARTH SHOE helps attain this posture.

A Yoga teacher, Anna Kalso of Copenhagen, invented the EARTH SHOE. Designed in the form of a healthy footprint in soft earth, it provides unprecedented comfort.



One immediately stands straighter in the EARTH SHOE and erect posture is vital for improved circulation and proper breathing. Good posture also reduces the possibilities of back-aches and fatigue.
